A letter from the editor

You now hold in your hands the newest innovation in yearbooks in the entire United States. It is not without difficulty that a group of students band together, form an efficient working staff, and produce the type of book you now possess. And, so it was with the 1969 CROSSROADS staff. But through even more than the usual "blood, sweat, and tears" the staff (and our new sponsor, Mrs. Bobbie Short) have performed amazingly well.

Each year's staff claims to have produced a "bigger and better" volume than the year before. Inevitably some areas are improved only to slight others. We hope that by the time the entire volume of four issues is published, the weaknesses will be few. If the cliché "to err is human" is admissible evidence, then we loudly proclaim our membership in the human race!

The fact that Missouri Southern College is the only institution of its kind in the nation—an innovator, is sufficient reason for its yearbook to follow suit—to be an innovator, too! If we succeed in producing an annual of such merit, in good taste, and one pleasing to you, then our efforts will not have been in vain.

A special word of thanks to Larry Randol, our company representative, Mac Upshaw, and all the other great people of the Taylor Publishing Company—our printers for the last several years. Also a vote of thanks to you, the students of MSC, for it is you who write the history we record herein.

Crossroads Awards Dr. Leon C. Billingsly

Title: M.S.S.C.'s First 'Man of the Year'

Dr. Leon C. Billingsly, President of Missouri Southern State College, selected to receive the honor of Missouri Southern's first "Man of the Year," will be remembered throughout the life of the college as one of its greatest personalities. A man of great enthusiasm and purpose, Dr. Billingsly has had the encouragement of the entire area through the fantastic growth of the college under his administration.

Since he assumed the presidency in 1964, Missouri Southern College has grown from a junior college of two or three hundred to its present fully accredited Missouri Southern State College status with an enrollment of over 2,800.

Throughout its phenomenal growth, President Billingsly has emphasized the necessity of the college's maintaining the high degree of excellence in education and rapport with the student body which has been characteristic of JJC, JCJC, and MSC for thirty-two years.

A member of the Commission on

Colleges and Universities of the North Central Association and Consultant and Examiner for the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, Dr. Billingsly holds membership in several professional organizations as well. These include the Missouri Education Association, American Association of School Administrators, and Phi Delta Kappa. In addition he is affiliated with local organizations: Rotary International, Joplin Chamber of Commerce, and the Joplin Historical Society.

Dr. Billingsly holds a Bachelor of Science degree from Southwest Missouri State College, a Master of Science degree from Kansas State College of Pittsburg, and a Doctor of Education degree from the University of Arkansas.

President Billingsly has had an opportunity afforded to few—to share with Missouri Southern State College its first graduates—the thrill of a dream come true!

Jeb Pulls Mobile Poll for Fall Elections

Bruce Baird, Steve Walstad, and John (Jeb) Prince at mobile poll.

Student Senate meetings arouse varied emotions.

Kathy Watkins, Judy Audrey, and Toni Zbrank as they appeared in the USO tour.

Here come "da judge" an' he's voting for ... Early in September Southerners voted to help shape the new image. The vote mobile was a new mobile poll unit on the Southern scene. It was instrumental in increasing student participation in the selection of officers. Operating under their newly ratified constitution, the Senate also sponsored the annual Fall Mixer, held at the First National Bank.

The Southern image stimulates creative talent linking the past and the present with the future. We have created a many-faceted community for learning, living, sharing, hoping, and dreaming. During the summer the college players were chosen by the USO to carry the Southern tradition in some 23 shows to Greenland.

Concentration was a new experience for many. Much of student life was centered around academic activities and Spiva Library.

TGIF—how we all anticipated the beginning of weekends! They were never long enough to fit in all we would like to do—football games, parties, pizzas, movies, and bowling.

We, the student body, faculty, and administration were the Southern Tradition.

TGIF Janet Schilling

Victory Eludes Southern In Season Openers

For Jim Johnson's Missouri Southern Lions the 1968 football season began with discouraging defeat. The entire Southern backfield from the '67 season was no longer with us; Johnson depended on Pat Wozniak, a transfer student from Kansas State University and Marcel Charron, from Canada who was last season's number two quarterback. Charron, Bryant Davis, Dale Green, Wozniak, and team . . . stay in there and "Give 'em Hell, Lions!"

First Outing Proves Fatal; Lions Tamed 45-0

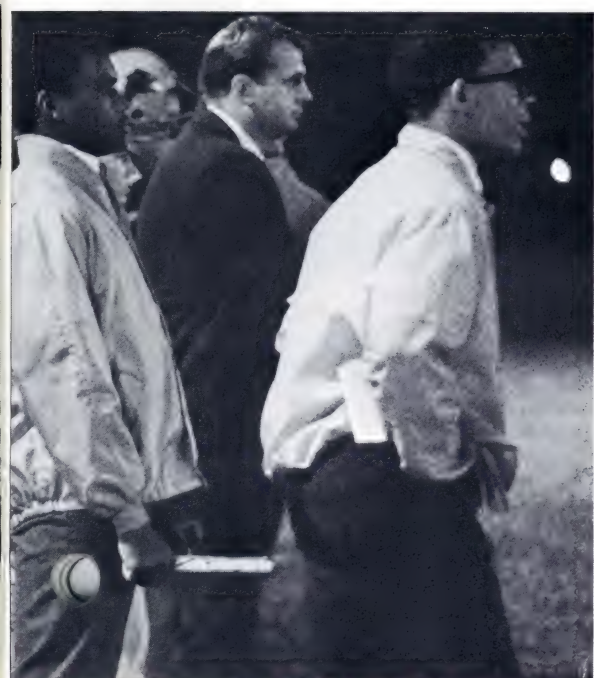

In their first outing in four-year competition Jim Johnson's Lions suffered a setback playing Northeastern Oklahoma State College at Tahlequah. The opening game of the season saw the Redmen throw two touchdowns and three scoring strikes for a 45-0 victory over Missouri Southern Lions.

Aggies Cage Lions In Home Opener

The home opener was played in Joplin's Junge stadium where Southern met with the Panhandle State Aggies of Goodwill, Oklahoma. The Aggies slipped by the Lions for a 21-10 victory. The score was tied 7-all with two minutes left in the half when a 34-yard pass from Pat Wozniak to Lonnie McAllister was completed for a TD. In the closing seconds of the half MSC was ahead 10-7, but the game was put out of reach with Aggie touchdowns in the third and fourth quarters.

Wildcats Win 20-16 Over Missouri Southern

Southern toured to Wayne, Nebraska, September 28 to play Wayne State Wildcats in our third game. In a come-from-behind score the Wildcats scored a 20-16 victory over the Lions. Lions took the lead with Bert Davis' 38-yard field goal in the first quarter. Early in the third, Harold Fountain scored for 9-7, Davis made the point bringing the score to a Lion 10-7 lead. Wozniak and Dale Green made Southern's final TD with 8:02 remaining, but the Wayne Staters tipped the score for their victory.

Arkansas Stomps Southern For 29-13 Victory

The fourth game of the season played on the home grid saw Johnson's Lions suffer their fourth consecutive loss—this time to the State College of Arkansas, Russellville, Ark. The Bears held the score until Pat Wozniak and Dale Green scored on a 42-yard pass play. With 4:21 left in the quarter, the Lions kicked wide for a 27-6 score. MSC scored with 14 seconds left for a final 29-13 score.

MSC Levelled 53-0 For Arkansas Tech Win

What could you say, this just wasn't our bag!

Lions Squelch Northwood Institute 48-0; Gain First Season Win In Maple Leaf Bowl

Missouri Southern's Lions, paced by quarterback Rex Perry and tailback Sam Keaholha, unleashed the potential energy they had been storing for five weeks and rolled to a 48-0 victory over Northwood Institute of Cedar Hill, Texas, in the first annual Maple Leaf Bowl tussle at Carthage, Saturday, October 19.

The win was the first for the Lions in collegiate competition. Northwood suffered its fifth setback in as many outings. Perry, replacing the injured Pat Wozniak, completed eight of 11 passes for 163 yards and rushed for 57 yards in eight carries as the Lions built up a 42-0 bulge at the half.

Keaholha, whose appearance in the contest was his first of the season, led the potent MSC ground attack with 79 yards on 17 tries.

Southern scored the first two times it touched the ball to roll up a 14-0 bulge at the end of the first quarter. A 55-yard scoring aerial from Perry to Leonard Gay and Kenny Hall's 77-yard punt return accounted for the TDs. Bert Davis booted both PATs.

Johnson's Lions scored four times in the second quarter to put the game on ice. The tallies came on a 32-yard jaunt by Perry, a 25-yard pass from Perry to Gay, a 10-yard scamper by James Scotta and a 1-yard dash by Joe Kodba.

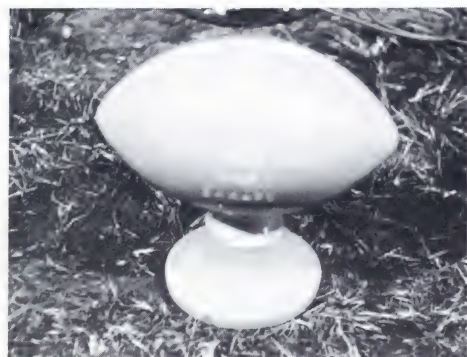

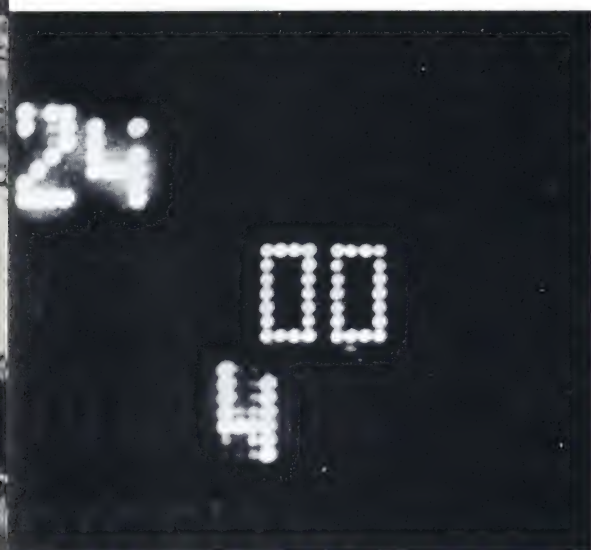

Perry connected with Dale Green for 37 yards and a touchdown to close out the scoring in the third quarter.

MSC rolled up 232 yards rushing, 199 passing, and 110 on punt, kickoff, and pass interception returns while limiting the Bears to 103 yards on the ground and 78 through the air lanes. The Lion secondary picked off five enemy aerials.

MSC Art League Works Closely With Art Center

This year the Art League became actively involved in field trips and club exhibitions closely associated with the Spiva Art Center. A primary goal of the League is to promote visual arts within the local campus as well as the community.

K B K Conducts Market Research

Kappa Beta Kappa's primary goal this past year was to help business students through the Academic and the Personnel Committees. The Academic Committee functioned as a tutoring service for business students having trouble with classes of any type. The Personnel Committee worked with the College and state employment services to help secure part-time employment, housing, and financial assistance for business majors.

The purpose of Kappa Beta Kappa is to learn practical applications of methods taught in the classroom. The club planned to accomplish its purpose through lectures by area businessmen and through projects similar to those performed by businesses.

This past year Kappa Beta Kappa sponsored Joplin's November Red Cross Blood Drive, compiled a Promotion Brochure for the Joplin Chamber of Commerce, conducted Market Research Projects for firms interested in locating in the City of Joplin, and assisted the Junior Chamber of Commerce in the Pace '73 Survey.

Gene Murray, sponsor

Gary Baird, Jeb Prince, Kathleen Bagby, Peggy Chew

The role of The Chart has received added significance with the establishment of a journalism department at M.S.C. Its primary function is still that of the campus newspaper, but it also serves as a realistic laboratory for those who minor in journalism.

The Chart maintains a bi-weekly publishing schedule. In addition it publishes an annual review in the spring which features highlights of the year's campus news. The review is mailed to four-state area high school seniors and alumni.

New this year to The Chart is the ad-

Math Club Works; Plans 3 Projects

Members of the Math Club have the responsibility of three major projects during the academic year. The first is the annual contest open to all Missouri Southern students in which a difficult problem is presented for solution. Judges select the winner on the basis of his entry's accuracy, originality, and neatness. Displayed in the front hall of the Science and Math building is a plaque bearing the names of each year's winners.

The second and third projects are wholly service-oriented. In addition to staffing twice-weekly math tutoring sessions free to any student needing assistance with his work, club members sponsor a monthly contest for area high school students who are interested in mathematics. This project is called the Missouri Southern College Math League. Once each month students from 17 area high schools compete for high scores.

A record of these scores is kept, and the contestant who accumulates the highest cumulative total receives special recognition. Last year the recognition included a $100.00 scholarship to Missouri Southern and a spring picnic which was attended by nearly 160 of the high school contestants and college club members.

History of Cap Reveals Traditions; Symbols; Pride

The nursing cap of the Missouri Southern school of nursing was designed by a member of the first graduating class. Two others were designed by members of the same class. Designers were Charleen Smith, Linda Warden and Sue Brand, and Cheryl Seasholtz.

These three caps, as well as two which were sent from uniform companies, were submitted to the class for vote of approval. The decision was one of the most exciting of the school year. Several meetings and near-battles among various individuals were to pass before the final design was chosen. The accepted design was submitted by Cheryl Seasholtz.

The next problem encountered in the preparation of the caps was securing someone to make the desired caps. After weeks of fruitless search, two members of the class, Linda Warden and Sue Brand, volunteered their sewing abilities. Within two weeks twenty student nurses were wearing their new caps.

In the fall of the second year of the new program, each second-year student added a black velvet band to her cap. The wearing of this band signifies completion of one year of study, practice, and giving of one's self.

That black velvet band was a treasure to second-year students. However, their main goal lay just ahead. Somewhere in the mind of each was the desire, the hope, and ... the knowledge that one day in the place of that little band, the inverted "V" would stand brilliantly against the shining white of the cap of the Registered Nurse.

The inverted "V" implies the use of the nurse as a therapeutic tool. The left corner designates the HEART: the attitudes and appreciations of nursing aims instilled in each by her various nursing instructors. The right corner designates the HANDS: the skills and dexterity of nursing practice obtained from actual care of patients. The apex of the "V" represents the MIND: indicating knowledge and understanding of the patient and his needs.

The bare white cap of the first-year student indicates a goal to be sought, the black velvet band for the second-year student indicates advancement toward that goal, and the inverted "V" for the graduate nurse signifies fulfillment of that goal. The receiving of the "V" is a time of separation from student life. Only the cap remains to symbolize those never-to-be-forgotten days.

School Seal Chosen for Nurses' Pin

The pin of the MSC School of Nursing was chosen by the first graduating class. After nearly a year and a half of indecision, the members decided upon the college seal as the design for their pin as they felt it an honor to be a part of the greater Missouri Southern State College.

The center of the pin is the flaming torch, and along the outer edges bears the college motto: "In Pursuit of Excellence." This seemed applicable to the field of nursing as well as education.

The pin is given to each student as she completes her second year of training and enters the profession. It is worn regularly with the traditional nursing attire and is a lifelong treasure to each as an indication of her student years and the college she attended.

SNEA Examines Teaching Fields

SNEA focuses attention on teaching opportunities of yesterday, today, and tomorrow. Interested high school and college students from the area are urged to attend.

Members of SNEA are able to attend a series of events: the Southwest Missouri Teachers' Meeting in Springfield, the Opera Rigoletto in Tulsa, the Missouri State Teachers' Meeting in Kansas City, and the Four-State Regional Meeting in Oklahoma City.

SNEA has the largest membership of any organization on the MSC campus. A major project to raise money for the SNEA Scholarship Fund is the compiling of a cookbook of the favorite recipes of the MSC faculty. A highlight of the cookbook is a caricature drawing of each teacher contributing a recipe.

Sociology Club members participate in learning situations outside the classroom through field-work. This relatively new club endeavors to present sociology as a vocation performing, teaching, researching, and administering services.

The Sociology Club's main goal is the establishment of a tutorial program in cooperation with the Office of Economic Opportunity under the direction of the Department of Labor. The program will provide counselling and adjustment services for young high school dropouts.

A recent undertaking has been the Youth Employment Service for youth from low income families. The YES program seeks to find employment for these youth, and indirectly points out the value of good working habits. A summer office is maintained eight hours a day, seeking new jobs and counselling employees when needed.

Symphony Plans Full Season

Missouri Southern College's Symphony Orchestra presents five annual concerts of standard orchestral literature.

This year the ladies of the group wore long black formals instead of the black dresses worn in years before.

Outstanding college student instrumentalists and adult musicians from the area together make up the symphony's membership.

William L. Taylor, conductor, and William C. Elliott, associate conductor are responsible in large measure for the group's outstanding work.

Homecoming '68

And it rained, and rained, and rained,
and rained . . .!

Judy McMillan was crowned Football Homecoming Queen November 2 after a rain-drenched parade and game. The Homecoming activities were climaxed by the Peaches and Herb concert on Friday night, and a 13-7 victory over St. Mary's.

Lions Win Over St. Mary's

Jim Johnson's MSC Lions scored touchdowns in each of the first two periods at Junge Stadium on Saturday night, November 2, and held on for a muddy 13-7 victory over St. Mary's of the Plains of Dodge City, Kansas, in the annual homecoming tussle.

The victory for the Lions was combined with Fountain to lead the attack.

Southern took a 7-0 bulge with 7:50 left in the first stanza as Fountain boomed across from one yard out. The drive started on the St. Mary's 29-yard line and the Lions took only five plays to score, with the big play being a 20-yard scamper by Fountain. Bert Davis booted the extra point.

proved too much for the Missouri Southern defense, leading the Kansas State College of Pittsburg Gorillas to a 14-3 victory over Jim Johnson's Lions in a gridiron clash at Pittsburg on Saturday night November 9.

NMSC Bulldogs Chew Lions

The Northeast Missouri State College of Kirksville Bulldogs

their second in eight engagements, while the visiting Cavaliers dropped the fourth decision against as many victories.

Harold Fountain, who manned the tailback post during the tilt, led the game's rushers with 113 yards on 28 carries. Pat Wozniak called the shots for the hosts. Fullback Carl Basler and Ron Ippolito and tailback Sam Keaholha

Southern Bows to Aggies 22-7

The Cameron State Aggies displayed a balanced attack in recording a 22-7 victory over the Missouri Southern Lions in a game at Lawton, Oklahoma, on Saturday night, October 26.

Gorillas Climb Past Southern

erupted for 27 points in the final quarter at Joplin Junge Stadium on Saturday, November 23, for a 48-8 decision over the Missouri Southern College Lions in the season finale for Southern. The setback was the eighth in 10 outings for the Lions in their first season in four-year collegiate competition.

Coach Jim Johnson

Lion Cagers Break Even; Score 16-16 Season.

Frank Davis' basketball Lions pulled out a 16-16 season with a 100% underclass team. Seven players broke a two-hundred point season mark, with the team garnering 2358 total points in thirty-two outings. The highlight of the season was February 15 when Gale Mudd was crowned 1969 Basketball Queen at the half of the Southern-Southwest Baptist tussle. The queen's attendants were Suzy Greenwood, and Dana Youngblood.

International Figures Speak on Campus

Baroness von Trapp

Baroness Maria von Trapp, the woman whose life inspired "The Sound of Music," spoke at MSC about her personal recollections of twenty years of concerts on four continents.

After their escape from the Nazi invaders, the Trapp family became the Trapp Family Singers. Appearing in the colorful costumes of their native Tyrol, they sang early Church music and folk songs of many lands and played rarely heard ancient instruments such as the recorder and spinet.

The Baroness has written four books about her family's adventures on their world concert tours. When not lecturing, the Baroness relaxes at the Trapp Family Lodge, the Alpine-styled vacation resort at Stowe, Vermont.

Mrs. Lou Adair

Mrs. Lou Adair, world traveler and member of the English Brass Rubbing Society, lectured on tomb rubbing and exhibited her collection at the Spiva Art Center.

A brass, she explained is a figure, inscription, or shield in plate brass which has been inlaid as a memorial. They are found in northeast and Central Europe dating generally from about the twelfth century to the Elizabethan period in England.

The brass memorials were usually laid in churches. In the stone floors or walls of these churches the stone would be cut in the outline of the brass to be inlaid. The hole in the stone was then filled with pitch to hold the memorial brass down. The brass was then inlaid.

Mrs. Adair gave several reasons for the use of brass memorials: the metal was durable and colorful; a flat memorial created fewer problems in spacing in the church; and the flat monuments could vary in size without looking incongruous, whereas different size statues would.

Mrs. Adair also pointed out the invaluable historical knowledge these memorials offer. They are the most consistently dated works of the medieval period. Brass rubbings gave the costume of the people of that time. They also reflected many walks of life.

Pauline Frederick

Pauline Frederick, NBC news United Nations correspondent, spoke on "The U.N. and the World Today," on Wednesday, March 12, 1969, in the MSC gymnasium. Miss Frederick has covered major crises around the world. She reported the events of the six day Arab-Israeli war and the emergency sessions of the U.N. From the U.N., she has reported upheavals in Korea, Suez, Hungary, Laos, the Congo, Cypress, and the Dominican Republic. Miss Frederick has a daily radio news program and appears three times a week on "Emphasis."

Big Bend Welcomes Biology Club

This year's trek saw the Biology Club invade Big Bend National Park, armed with cameras, plant presses, traps, and an odd assortment of jars, cartons, and bottles. The park, located in southwestern Texas offered an excellent opportunity to observe and collect many species of animals and plants foreign to the immediate Joplin area. For those interested in geology, examples of past vulcanism, erosion through sedimentary beds, and faulting were readily at hand. Some of the just-for-fun activities included hiking up the "Lost Mine Trail," midnight views through "The Window," and trips into the Mexican States of Chihuahua and Coahuila. Though everyone worked hard in preparation for the trip, and changed quite a few tires enroute, it was nevertheless a worthwhile "happening." Dr. Beasley and Dr. Gibson accompanied the group.

Student Teaching

Senior students (and post-graduate certification students) in the education program are required to complete the "Professional Semester" which occupies all the student's time for one semester and is equivalent to 15 hours of classwork. For one-half of the semester each student carries three three-hour courses on campus. For the remainder of the semester he is assigned to a participating public school within commuting distance where he is assigned to a carefully selected member of the faculty, known as a cooperating teacher. There were 20 schools participating in our student teaching program throughout the tri-state area of Southwest Missouri, Southeast Kansas, and Northeast Oklahoma. There were 145 cooperating teachers working with 136 student teachers.

We sent our first group of student teachers off campus on March 31, 1969. They remained with the schools 'til the end of the term, when we held a final seminar with them in the recently completed College Union building on May 26, 1969.

Included in the first group of 136 student teachers were 98 women and 38 men. Two of the men were elementary education majors, 31 were secondary education majors, and five were preparing to teach at both levels. Men made up 28% of the entire group.

Fifty-six women were elementary education majors, 35 were secondary education majors, and 7 were preparing to teach at both levels. Women made up 72% of the group.

It is interesting to note that our first group of student teachers included people whose ages ranged from 20 years to 48, a span of 28 years. Thirty elementary majors were in the age range of 20-25; eight were between 26-30; seven between 31-35; eight were between 36-40; and five were over 41.

Fifty-two secondary majors were between 20-25; four were between 26-30; eight were between 31-35; none between 36-40; and three were over 41.

Of those preparing to teach combined elementary and secondary levels there were five between the ages of 20-25; three between 26-30; none between 31-35; one between 36-40; and two were over 41. Sixty-three and nine-tenths percent of the student teachers were between the ages of 20-25; 11% were between 26-30; 11% were between 31-35; 6.6% were between 36-40; and 7.5% were over 41.

We had in our program, especially in the elementary education level, an unusual group of more mature women—who for one reason or another were for the first time just finding it possible to finish degrees. Prior to that time they either lived where the husband worked and were unable to attend, or there was not a college close enough to attend. A number of those women are mothers who have children in high school and college.

The older students seemed to be a bit more concerned with grades than one might normally expect from college students; therefore, the grading curve was rather high in their classes.

We feel that these people will be very good teachers because of their seriousness of purpose and also by virtue of having had families and knowing about children by their own experience. This first group of student teachers has already brought us many favorable comments from local school administrators and students. They have established a fine record for those who will follow them in student teaching.

Student Teaching

Golf and Track Teams

Head track Coach Mike Bogard saw the MSC track team compete in meets against Northeast Oklahoma A and M Junior College, Kansas State College, and Northeast Oklahoma State. The Lion thinclads opened their campaign competing in the 18th annual Arkansas Relays in Fayetteville.

Jim Carter, a freshman at MSC, set a new record in the high jump during the annual Southwest Missouri State College Relays in Springfield on April 26. Jim cleared 6 feet, 4 inches, bettering the old record by one-half inch.

The Lion golf squad opened its season on April 5 in a match against Southwest Missouri State College of Springfield, Kansas State College of Pittsburg, and Oral Roberts University of Tulsa. Northeast Oklahoma State, Central Missouri State, Drury College, Baker University, and Washington University of Topeka were among other colleges against which the golf team competed. The MSC links crew included Dave Tourtelot, Steve Carlson, Frank Jacobs, Scott Everett, Hoot Lawson, Tom Laster, Mark Eastman, and Bob Perrin.

Compete With Several Colleges

Presidents' Club Copes With Problems

In the fall of 1969 a new organization was formed at the request of President Billingsly,—the "President's Club." The membership included the president of every campus club, the editor of The Chart, and the editor of the Crossroads. The purpose for organizing such a group was to alleviate some of the problems of communicating on such an expanded campus. Topics of discussion ranged from the approaching marriage of the Dean to speculation on a completion date for the Student Union.

The Presidents' Club met monthly at 7 a.m. on the third Thursday of the month. Coffee and rolls were served "compliments of the college."

Representatives of the administration were present at each meeting to hear suggestions and grievances relayed by the leaders of the various campus units.

With "Dark of the Moon"

"Dark of the Moon" was the College Players' first production of the year. "Dark of the Moon," directed by Mrs. Gwen Hunt, incorporates folk lore and mountain superstitions in a Smoky Mountains setting.

Players Present "Dandelion Wine"

"Dandelion Wine" was an original adaptation by instructor Duane Hunt from a novelette by Ray Bradbury. Mr. Hunt is one of two men in the U.S. who has Bradbury's permission to adapt his works. "Dandelion Wine" was performed in the reader's theatre style of drama with the seven actors speaking the voices of many characters. Props, makeup, and costumes played unimportant parts in the play; the audience's imagination supplied the set.

Cast and Crew Stage Drama Set in Fifteenth Century

The drama department's third production was Christopher Fry's "The Lady's Not for Burning." The story takes place near the fifteenth century although the mood could be representative of any century. The play deals with a disillusioned soldier who wishes he could die and leave a hostile world. The other side of life is represented by a young girl who is accused of witchcraft but wants to live. Through the characters' actions and thoughts the play offered many overtones for a contemporary audience.

The final production presented by the College Players was entitled "Easter." "Easter" is an autobiography of August Strinberg's early years. The central figure, Elis Hyst, is a teacher in a small Swedish university. "Easter," written during a period of style transition, presents both realistic character situations and expressionistic technical efforts.

MΣT

Mu Sigma Gamma, one of the three newly-formed fraternities to make the campus scene in 1969, has begun with a flurry of activities. Sponsoring a candidate in the Miss Neosho Pageant and co-sponsoring the Yellow Rose Formal (aided by a new sorority, Delta Phi Delta) were only two of the many events in which the Mu Sigma Gammas had a part.

Officers of the fraternity in picture number 1: Gary Bowling, executive board; David Raper, vice president; Rod St. Clair, executive board; Paul Poyner, president; Leonard Wagoner, secretary; Jon Sykes, treasurer.
